

Title	River Red Gum Fauna Data
Alternative title(s)	RRG Ecological Thinning Trial
Abstract	These data were collected as part of the River Red Gum Ecological Thinning Trial. Data were collected for four fauna components, as described below: Bat Activity: Bat activity was surveyed within each 9 ha plot using ultrasonic recordings of bat calls over three consecutive nights, around the time of a new moon, in summer. Surveys were undertaken annually over seven years. Recordings were processed through Anascheme to identify bat activity by species. Bird Abundance: Birds were surveyed in a 2 ha subplot within each 9 ha plot, six times over seven years. In each survey year, visual and auditory observations were recorded by an experienced observer during four separate 20 minute periods. Fox Scats: Fox scat data were collected in three 20 m x 20 m subplots within each 9 ha plot, six times over seven years. The number of fox scats was counted, with any uncertain specimens subsequently confirmed by a scat analysis expert. Glider Feed Trees: Glider feed trees were surveyed visually by traversing each 9 ha plot and recording the number of trees with distinctive glider feeding notches. Data were collected twice over seven years. Further information is provided in the reference guide for each dataset.
